

I am so excited to personally invite you to the Spouses' Luncheon on Saturday, April 20th, in Baton Rouge!! Please see attached for the details.

We will have coffee, bloody marys, mimosas, & a yogurt parfait bar, so I added a "cocktail & coffee" hour from 9 am - 10 am. We can casually & comfortably mingle with one another while sipping our choice of beverage. At 10 am, we will jump right into the class conducted by St. James Cheese Company. They'll teach us how to arrange meats, cheeses, & all the fixings on a charcuterie board! You'll leave with your yummy creation! You can enjoy it with your service member while getting ready for the formal or you can bring it to your table that night.... you have options!

We will have some fun entertainment as well...I can't wait for you to see what's in store! 😊

For lunch, we'll have a taco bar set up so that we can help ourselves.

If you've never been to the NGALA spouses' event, I sincerely hope you attend this year. Some wonderful Airmen, Soldiers, and I, have organized this event in such a way that EVERYONE will feel comfortable & included. We even went as far as putting pictures of outfit options on the NGALA website. You can dress up or down.... don't let "what to wear" deter you from attending!

I really hope to see you at the luncheon and look forward to meeting you 😊

Sincerely,
Laurie

PS: We will be done with our event around the same time your service member is done with their business session.
